MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Logistics

Mike:

Per our last discussion on Tony's paper re "People Vs Special-Purpose Building," I believe the thrust of the requirement has changed somewhat since the original tasking (based on Jack's and John's reaction to the first effort, Jack's subsequent discussions with the DCI, and our changed direction based on thinking the problem through more thoroughly as the various papers were actually prepared).

I have attached an outline which, based on our conversation, may reflect the current requirement. Before we get into flushing out this skeleton, however, I would appreciate your review and consideration of letting Jack and John have a shot at it. I would also propose your consideration of floating Tony's last effort by Jack and John at the same time in order to provide a contrast to the departure taken by the outline and perhaps crystallize our objective. I make this recommendation based on the knowledge that both Jack and John are high-speed information absorbing machines and I don't believe it will require an unreasonable amount of their time. Also, both of them read Tony's initial effort only and this, his third or fourth rewrite, has come a long way from the original. I certainly don't expect it to represent a final result but believe that if Jack and John read the paper first and then move to the outline maybe we can focus on a precise objective and get on with a final draft.
